Why the Howard County Ballet?

The Howard County Ballet is unique in that we focus on developing people through the rhythm of dance that runs through all of us. We challenge dancers to reach their full potential by providing superior ballet training for all levels to professional with additional instruction in Modern, Jazz, and Character.

The Howard County Ballet provides a positive environment in which children and adults can grow and thrive as dancers and individuals. The study of dance facilitates necessary life skills such as discipline, hard work, commitment, time management & consideration for others, while learning to respect dance as an art form.

I saw a sign on the side of the road recently. It said, "Discipline and confidence make good grades". I agree. I also believe discipline and confidence make a good life. Dance is a fun and interesting way to learn a skill, while forming discipline and gaining confidence. The earlier these attributes are developed, the sooner a child can benefit from them. Children that have had the positive experience of dance, gain the tools for a good life. They can carry the love of dance into their adulthood, and will have it with them forever.

Kathi Ferguson

Staff of the Howard County Ballet

Great care is given to the task of choosing the best teacher to instruct our classes. Each teacher is chosen based on his or her ability and experience in teaching each age group. Teachers follow a syllabus designed by Kathi Ferguson. Class sizes are small to ensure that each dancer receives individual attention and corrections.

The Howard County Ballet is happy to have the following teachers on staff this summer:

Kathi Ferguson, Christian Richards, Aimee Jennings, Dottie Adams, Rebecca Lowery, Leigh Alexander, Ashlei Yancich, Maria Rodgers, and Debbie Braun.
